New Administration Guides Chrysler High

WILLIAM E. LEHR
Principal
B. S., Ball State University
M. A., Ball State University

The New Castle Community School Corporation continues to strive for superior curriculum and facilities under the guidance of a progressive School Board and school administration. Dr. Donald G. Turchan completed his second year as superintendent, and Dr. Kenneth M. Book joined the school system last July as assistant superintendent.

Construction of two new elementary schools and completion of plans for a new junior high are evidence of the School Board and school administration at work.

Better preparing students for future college and vocational plans, flexible scheduling, in its second year at CHS, operated efficiently.

A major change in administration occurred after Mr. James L. Pugh resigned last spring to accept the position of principal at Munster. Mr. William E. Lehr, former assistant principal, was appointed principal. The positions of assistant principal and administrative assistant in charge of attendance were filled by former counselors Mr. Langan Hay and Mr. Randall Lawson.

Members of the Faculty Advisory Board are (FRONT ROW) Mrs. Hankenhoff, Miss Andrews, Miss Rentschler, Mrs. Bishop, Miss Euler, Miss McCord, Miss Rucker.

(BACK ROW) Mr. Brammer, Mr. Furbee, Mr. Shanver, Mr. Hay, Mr. Lehr, Mr. Nead, Mr. Zeigler, and Mr. Akey. The Board is composed of all department chairmen.

CHS Maintains Its North Central Rating

Miss Evelyn Rentschler
Junior, Senior Counselor

The week of Feb. 5 marked the visit of the North Central Association Evaluating Committee. Preparation for the evaluation covered several months and was extensive. Courses of study were revised for each subject by faculty committees and a self-evaluation was compiled by each teacher. After three days of observation, the 12 representatives praised the facilities and curriculum and extended the accreditation that New Castle High School has proudly enjoyed since 1909. The maintenance of this honor represented a total effort from all staff members and pointed to its high standards.

During the year, each of the 1,300 students became familiar with the counseling staff. Interviewing and guiding students, conducting college entrance exams, and making curriculum improvements were among their important responsibilities.

Students and faculty members were assisted time after time by the office and library staffs. Collecting money, filing library materials, and duplicating papers were just a few of the duties undertaken by these staffs each day of school.

Preparing and serving well-balanced meals to hungry students was but one job of the cafeteria staff. Special luncheons, chili suppers, and the Senior Breakfast in May added extra work. In addition to maintaining a clean, well-functioning building, the custodial staff also has other duties including cleaning the Fieldhouse after basketball games.

Resource Center Spurs Thinking

Resource Center is helpful to Wayne Mitchell and Perry Gates.

Individualism Is Stressed In English

With every student taking three years of English, this department had the biggest enrollment of all. Making the most of flexible scheduling, teachers used more resource materials and audio-visual aids to encourage students to express themselves in speaking and writing. A habit of good reading and an appreciation of literature also were encouraged by members of this department.

What used to be the Reading Lab became the English Resource Center, B108. Bookshelves and tables were added as well as many small desks for studying. Magazines, books, records of literary works, and a nearly complete selection of plays by Shakespeare were added.

Trying to express himself, John Stonerock uses creativity and skill.

Writing summaries of stories read in class helps pupils in self-expression.

Small group discussions prove to be somewhat comical at times.

Conversations develop into heated arguments when discussing politics.

Small Groups Are Lively In Social Studies

Numerous changes have been made within the Social Studies Department this year. Special areas were set aside for large and small group instruction. The concrete wall between rooms B214 and B215 was removed and a folding partition added to form a large group area. Small group rooms were achieved by dividing B204 with folding walls.

Again this year, Student Council and class elections were conducted by history students. A mock election also was held during the time of the general elections last November. Outstanding social studies students were selected to attend Boys' and Girls' State at Indiana University.

Applying correct voting procedures, John Younghaus casts his vote.

Innovations Modernize Math

New Closed Circuit Television Cameras Show Ancient Principles

Geometry, technical math, senior math, and algebra were all offered to students this year. The geometry course provided sophomores with a world of axioms, theorems, and geometric figures as their first high school math course. Modern algebra was offered to juniors who liked being challenged with logarithms and slide rules. Seniors who elected to take trigonometry or senior math explored imaginary numbers and trig functions.

Technical math was open to anyone who had successfully completed one year of mathematics and was particularly helpful to students in practical arts classes.

This year, sophomores learned geometric fundamentals in large group lectures over closed circuit television. Small group meetings also were held each week as were lab sessions so that students could obtain more individual help where needed.

Using answers on the lab door, Scott Witt and Wayne Tague correct mistakes.

Attentive listening and understanding are necessities in Algebra.

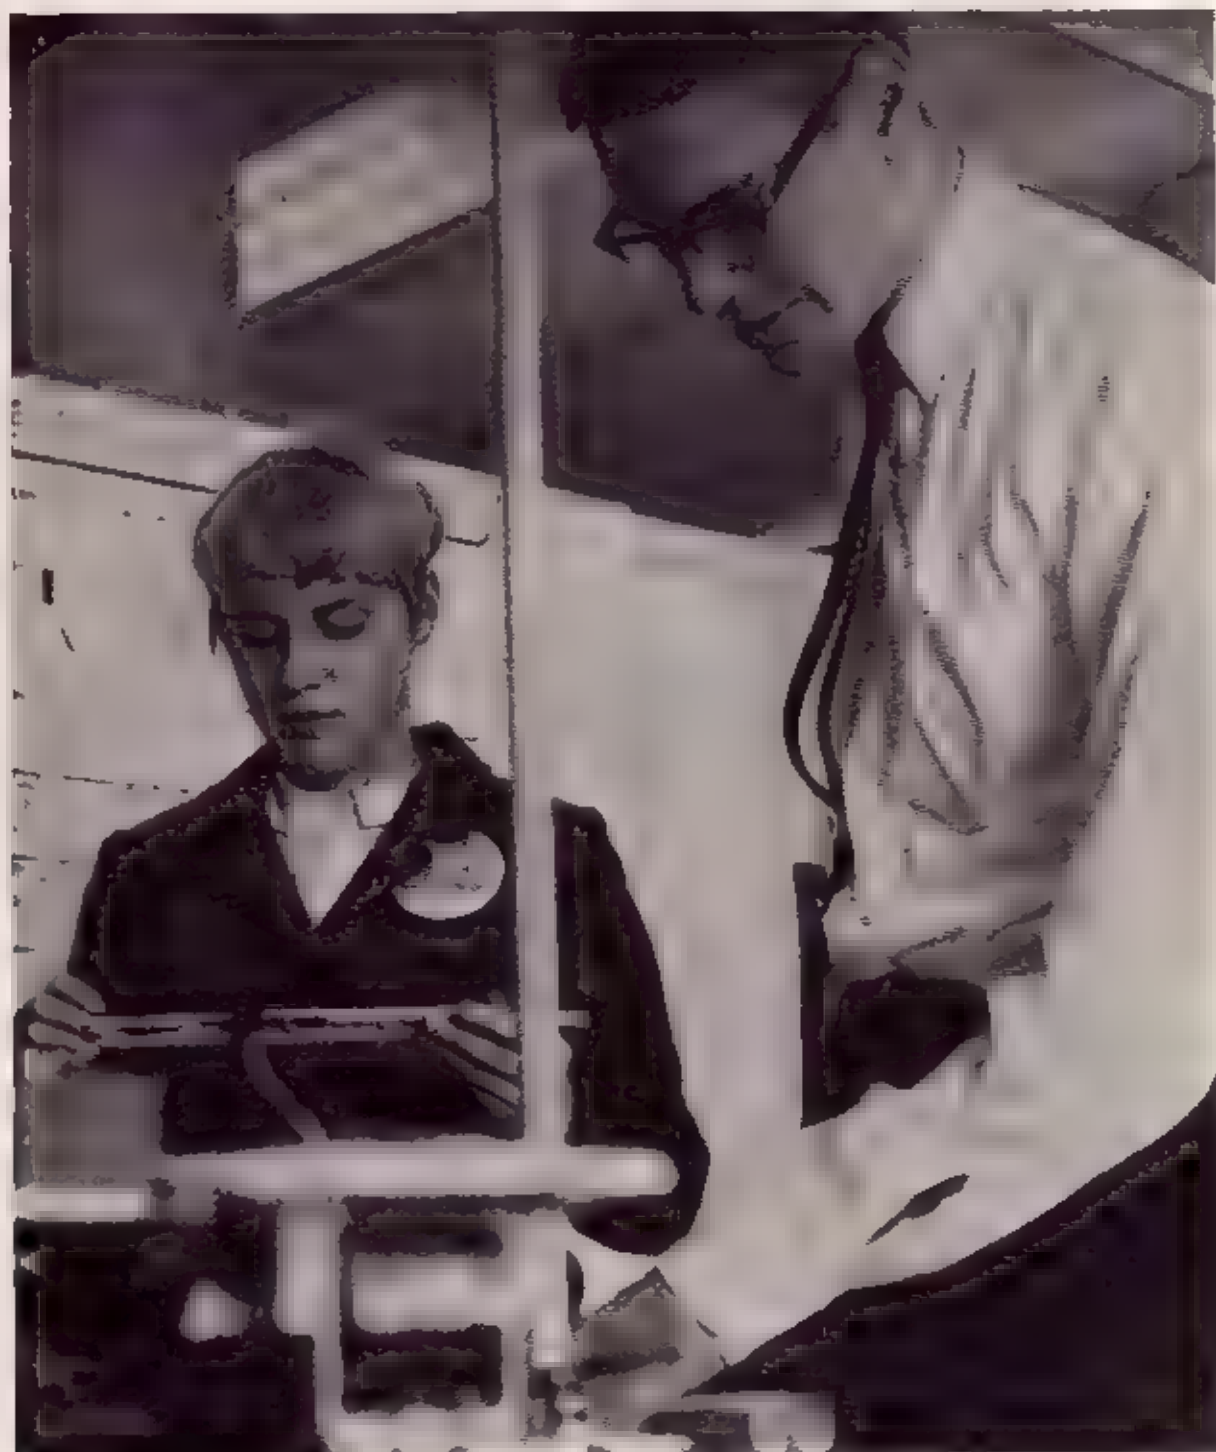

A study in concentration, Montey Holloway is absorbed in Trigonometry.

By adding a little fire, Becky Stamper produces a new substance.

Biology students probe into the unknown by utilizing lab time.

Open Lab Of Great Value To Scientists

The scientific theory of an open mind was even used in the scheduling of science classrooms this year. An open lab was established where biology, chemistry, or physics students could prepare their lab exercises in the same room at any time of day. The teachers shared in the supervision, helping students from all sciences with their labs.

Biology and chemistry lectures were presented exclusively over a closed circuit TV to approximately 90 students at one time.

The old English store room was converted into an area where students participated in small group discussions. Another room, the biology lab, was also set aside as a new area for small groups.

Fundamentals of physics are discovered by Ginny Morris and Doug Sloan.

Students Find New Cultures In Languages

Four years of Spanish, French, and Latin, and two years of Russian headlined the Language Department for this year. Steps also were taken to turn the lab room into a resource center where students were able to study their language with taped and text materials.

A field trip to see "Fiddler On the Roof" at Clowes Hall was taken by Russian students, while French students enjoyed a savory meal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carboneau. Spanish and Latin classes again had their annual banquets with many assortments of delicious foods.

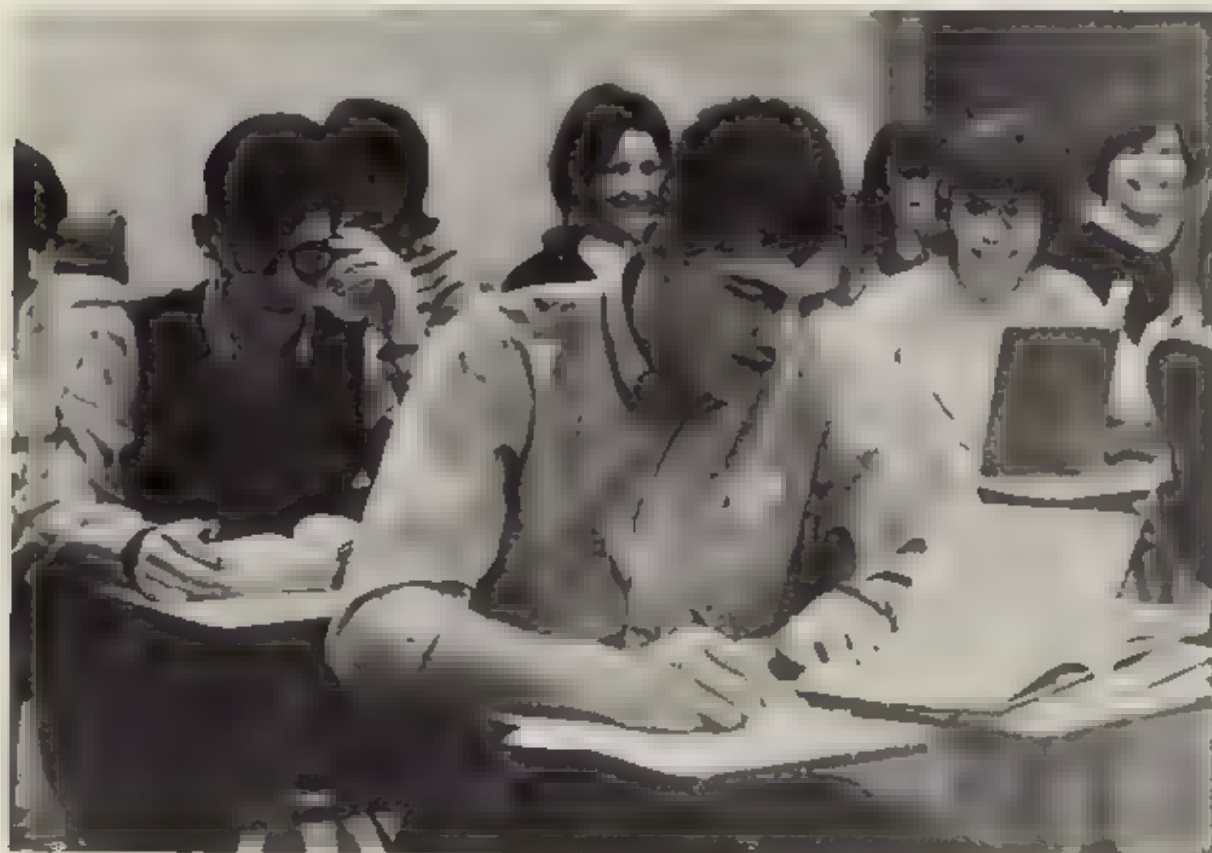

Visitors from over 20 countries explained their customs during Foreign Student Day in April.

Spanish students become engrossed while translating dialogues.

Duane Mathews finds mental exercise is a tool in foreign language.

Verb conjugations prove thought-provoking for Latin students.

Business Students Begin Occupations Early

Dictation taken with earphones provides for individual learning.

Electronic Shorthand Lab Very Efficient

A class in personal typing and a vocational business office program were the two major changes in the business curriculum this year. The non-credit personal typing classes met four modules a week for those students who wanted to learn proper rules for typing. The new vocational business program entitled the senior trainees to leave school after lunch to work at various office jobs within the city.

A modern electronics shorthand lab also was added. Approximately 30 students were involved in each lab. Four tapes could be played at one time at various speeds allowing each student to choose the proper speed for his dictation.

Samilla Hagee prepares to do practice exercises.

Assistance is needed when trying to figure financial affairs.

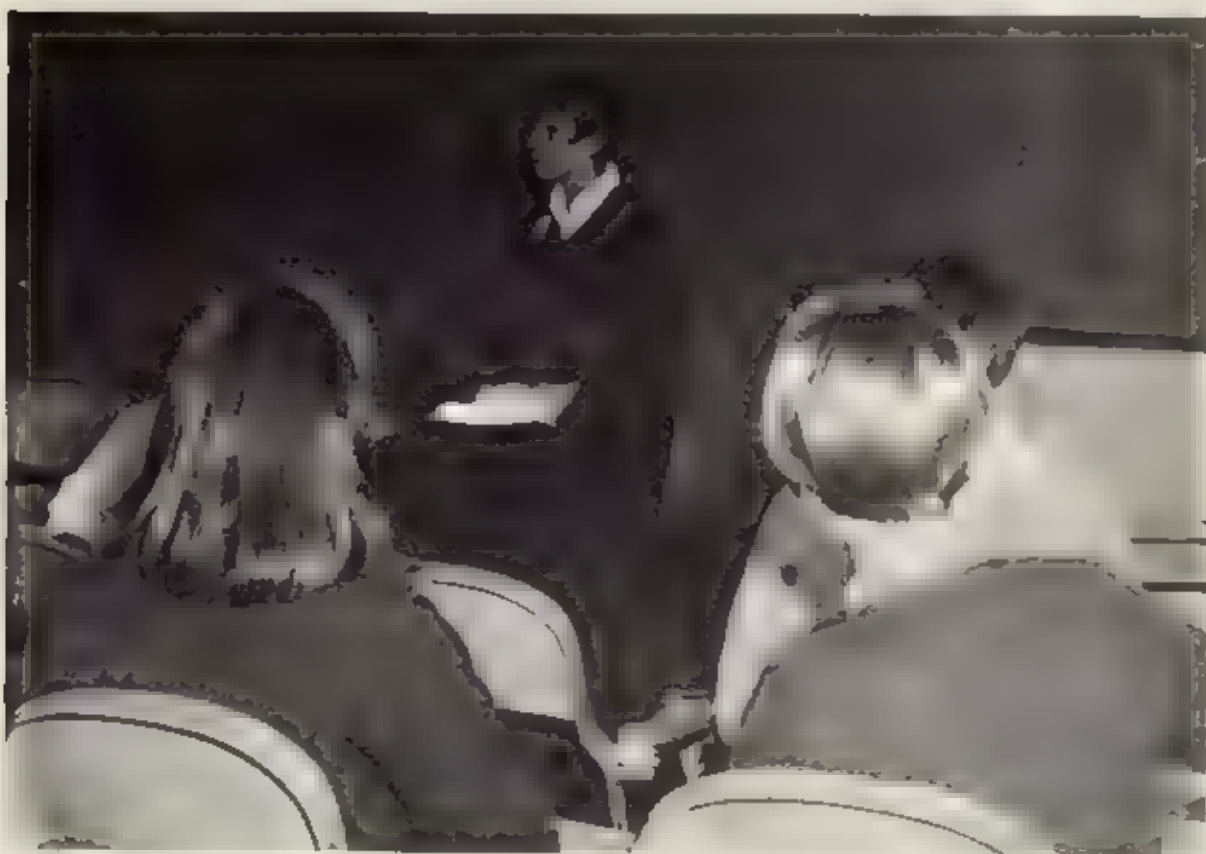

Music Groups Make Public Appearances

The marching band gives a lively performance at half-time show.

Public performances played an important role in the music program this year. Chorale, the select vocal group, exhibited enthusiasm and talent in presenting the Christmas convocation and a spring musical. The largest marching band in Chrysler's history, with 83 members, entertained at half-time during football and basketball games and appeared at I.U. Band Day and the Ball State Homecoming Parade last fall.

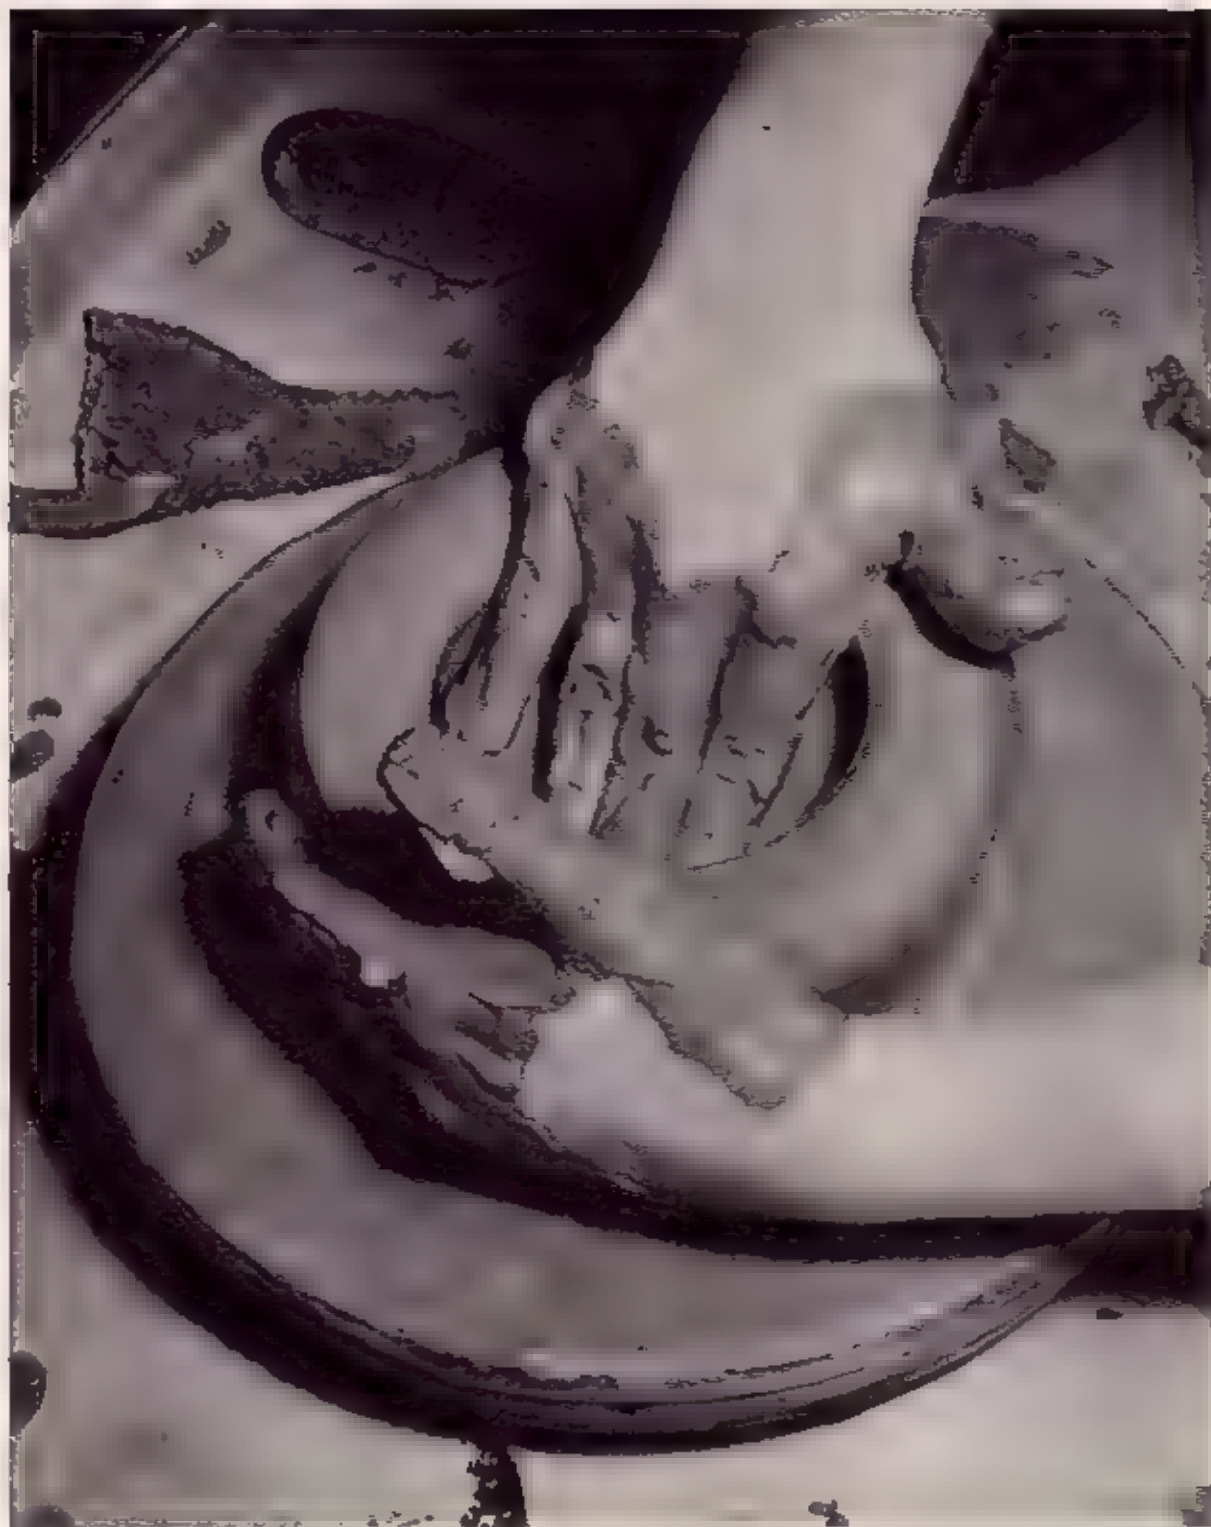

Music theory was a required subject for those students majoring in music. Others who wanted to build an appreciation for good music enrolled in Girls' Concert Choir. Although orchestra was small, it was composed of a devoted group which learned the basic music fundamentals in orchestral form.

First place winner Karen Albion practices for district contest.

Lectures help music theory student Karen New understand its complexities.

Patience, adroit hands, and practice are the keys to ceramics.

Art Creations Reveal Moods, Show Talent

Art gave students the chance to express their thoughts and to form them into objective creations. The students found that through painting, sculpturing, weaving and drawing, they could develop natural artistic skills. The touch that gave each product a special quality proved students to be individualistic as well as idealistic.

In an informal atmosphere, advanced students had the opportunity to use both class and independent time to work in either of two areas. One consisted of drawing and print-work and the other, jewelry and textiles. The main objective of art appreciation was to lead students to a better understanding through lively class discussions.

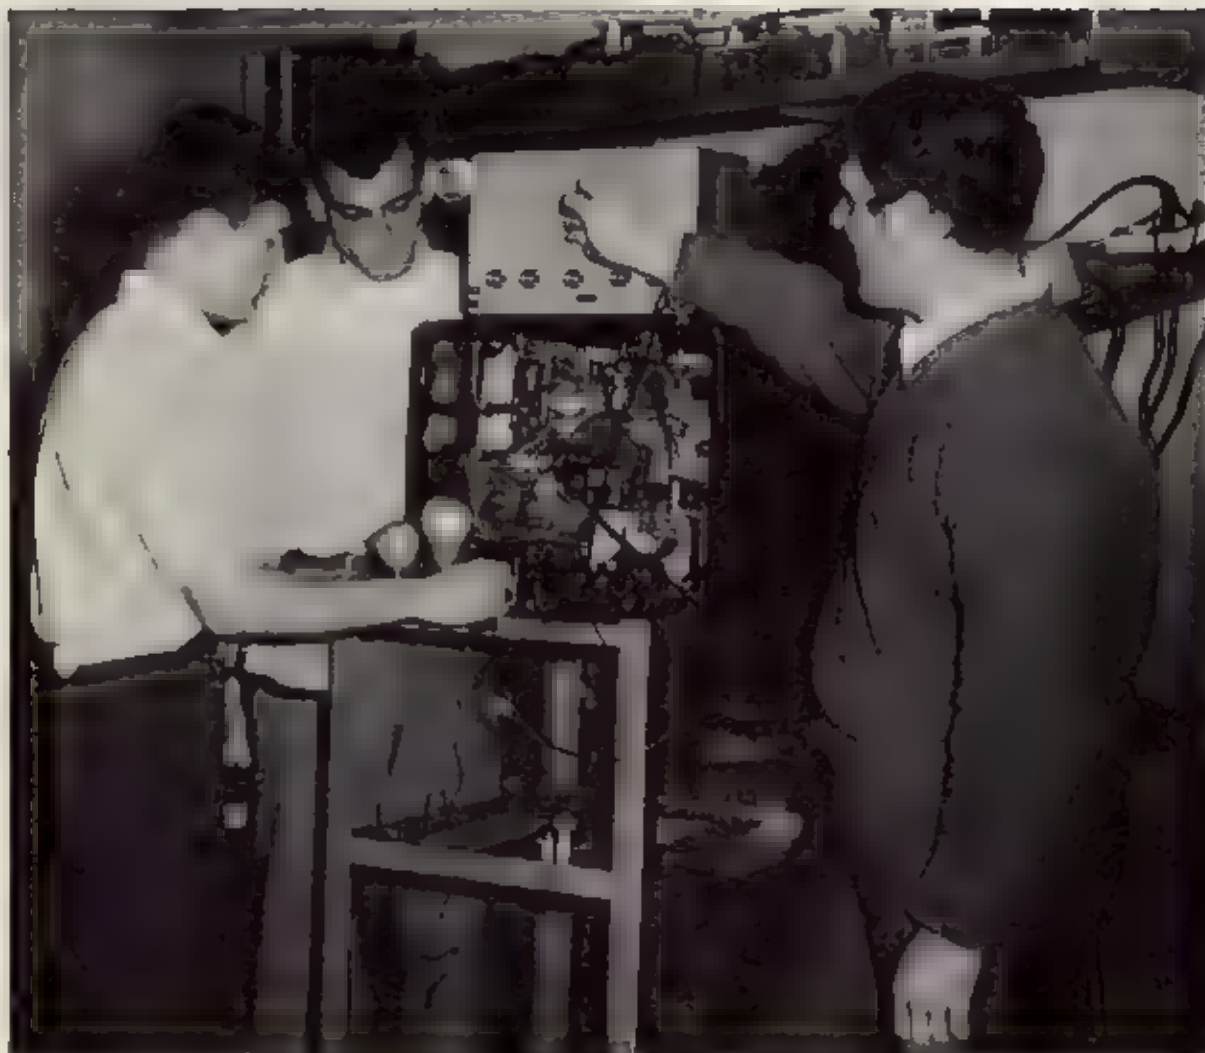

Students use imagination in weaving beautiful rugs and samplers from yarn.

Practical Arts Prepare For Skilled Jobs

Practical projects were carried out in every industrial arts area this year, and machine trades became a three hour vocational course. In this class, automobile parts made to scale were among the individual projects. Power and transportation boys disassembled and rebuilt a Cadillac "Dune Buggy." Advanced printing students devised and printed a yearly calendar to be used in the beginning classes. Assembly drawings and pattern layouts held the interest of drafting students.

Electronics boys experimented in television and visited Bloomington's RCA Assembly Plant. Practical household items like towel bars were made in metals. Various types of tables were common in woodshop.

Electronic students convert TV set into big screen oscilloscope.

Woodshop students Jerry Keller and Steve Stinson carve designs in table legs.

Filing a piece of metal to fit precisely is a student in metals, George Wilkinson.

Girls Participate In Place Setting Contest

Benlth Humble and Sherry Abston clean up after preparing a meal.

Teaching students the fundamentals of planning and caring for the home was the prime objective of the Home Economics Department. Preparing healthful and nutritious meals was a part of the family food program. Commercial foods classes discovered various jobs which were available in restaurant management.

Both boys and girls enrolled in housing heard Mrs. Esther McCormack speak on interior decorating. The McCormack-Hammer Store sponsored a contest for the best arranged place setting. Another important project was planning a house and its costs as related to income.

Clothing students studied the influence of sports on fashion today. The finished creations were displayed at a style show presented for the public this spring.

Combining skill and patience, Sandra Webb makes a matching outfit.

Melinda Cunningham and Lana Griffin choose dishes in the place setting contest.

Sophomores Keep Fit Through Exercise

Three sophomore girls compare scores of their basketball games.

A required subject to all sophomores, physical education provided exercise and fun needed for health and vitality. Classes met every day for fifty-five minutes, every Monday through Friday.

Girls' physical education classes practiced volleyball, speed-a-way, basketball, tumbling, and indoor recreational sports.

Boys' activities began with football and volleyball in the fall. In winter, sports such as basketball, wrestling and gymnastics improved their skills. Softball, track and other outdoor sports were included in the program for the spring months.

Girls in physical education find a brisk game of basketball a great challenge.

Other boys wait for the rebound as Wayne Tague tests his shooting ability.

She is standing at a library table, looking down at a book she is holding. The background is filled with tall bookshelves packed with books.

Library Has Facilities For Vital Research

The library this year had a new importance as a resource center for independent study. A collection of 132 current magazines and a file of older periodicals for research purposes supplemented the book collection and reference materials. Special emphasis in the areas of biography, practical arts, history and science provided students with more materials for better research and deeper learning.

Booths for individual study were installed throughout the library. Students also found two rooms equipped with tapes and records to be a valuable center for extensive study and group discussions.

Queen Karen Reigns Over PROM 1967

Enthusiastic juniors Greg Crider and Mark Stamper work on Prom decorations.

Registering guests is a common procedure before entering Prom.

Entering the underwater world of King Neptune through the hallway of the sunken "HMS Ebb Tide," juniors, seniors, and their guests saw one large treasure chest which was the focal point of an enchanted evening created for all. Gray sharks, fish in shades of green, blue, and yellow, starfish, and sea horses "swam" along the walls. An enormous octopus was draped with fish netting by the remains of the ship. A pink seashell, with a royal purple seat, formed the queen's throne and highlighted the underwater scene.

The bandstand, surrounded with a rock wall, was positioned on a lower level of the coronation platform. Johnny McCoy and his orchestra provided music for dancing.

The climax of the evening came at 11:00, when Junior Class President David Dickey introduced the court and proclaimed Karen Wannamacher Prom Queen-1967.

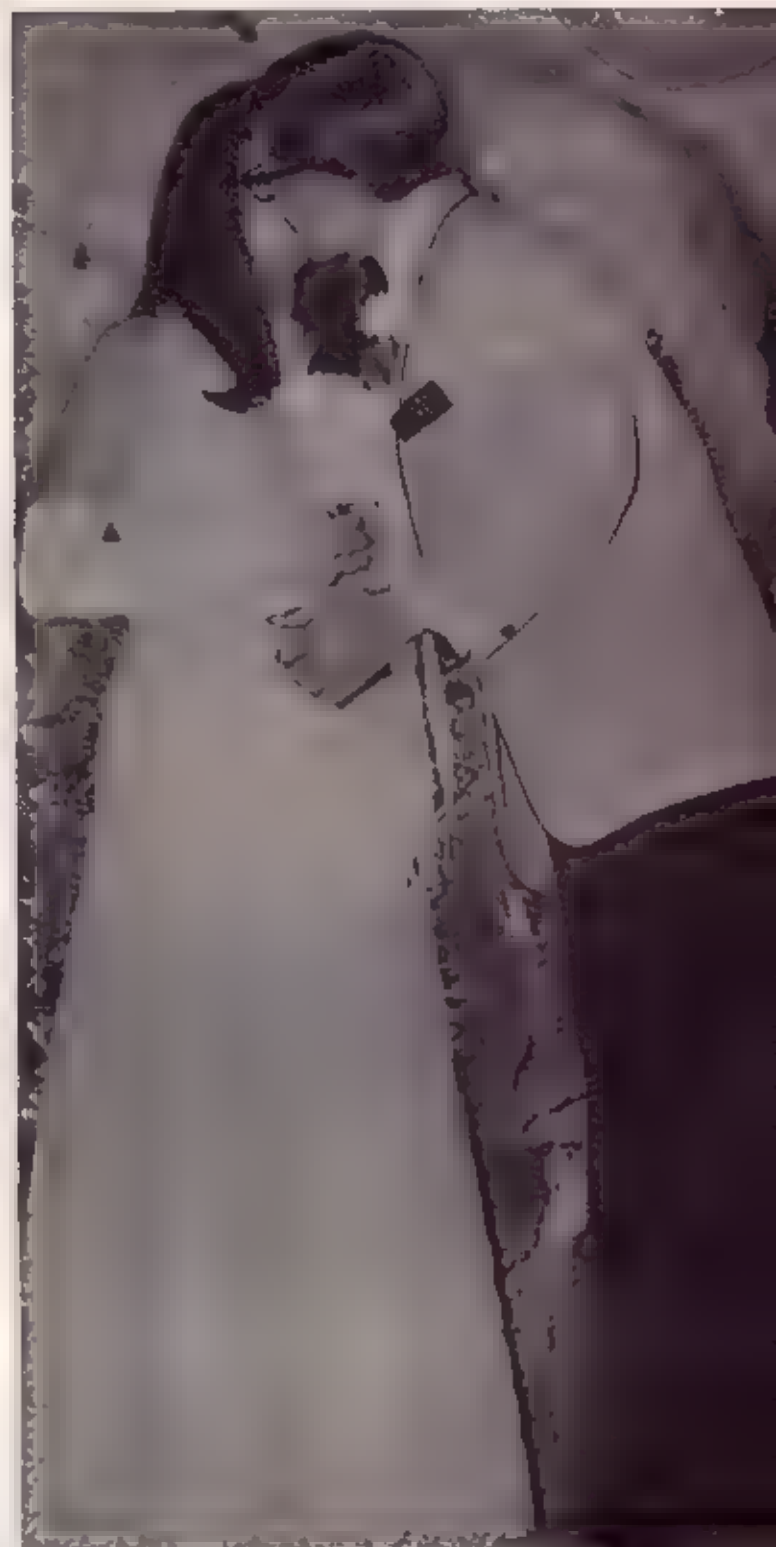

Prom's highlight of the evening was the honoring of the Queen and her court—Esther Day, Judy Nichols, Karen Wannamacher, James Van Dam, Judy Flynn, Sandy Locker, Connie Detmer, Debbie Hoover, and Ruth Ann Young.

Queen Marti Is Ruler Of Dream Castle

An enchanted castle was the setting for Hearts Hop which developed the theme "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing." Glittering paper chains marked the pathway to the ballroom which was lighted by torches hung along the walls. Angel hair covered the wire framework which formed a chandelier high above the center of the dance floor.

Black tape outlined the concrete blocks of the walls, making the gym wall look like a castle. Heraldic shields were hung at intervals along the walls. A large window at the southwest corner of the room overlooked painted hills and another enchanted castle.

The highlight of the evening was the traditional coronation during which Mike Kirby, president of Student Council, revealed Marti Morec to be Hearts Hop queen. Greg Givens crowned her and presented her a sheaf of red roses which she shared with her court.

Lovely attendants of the queen are (LEFT TO RIGHT) C. Carter, E. Millikan, S. Danielson, J. Bettner, D. Duncan, C. Detmer, M. Morec, M. Burton and C. Clevenger.

Chaos Lets Loose In 'High Button Shoes'

The leading roles of Pontdue and Harrison Floy are portrayed by M Stamper and B. Shockley.

Spring vacation found members of the Thespian Troupe and music department hard at work in the Girls' Gym. Their project, "High Button Shoes," was a delightful musical-comedy under the direction of Miss Della Mae Tronchuk and Mr. Richard Willis. Set in New Brunswick, New Jersey, in 1913, the musical was extremely colorful with costumes and make-up representative of that era. It focused on Harrison Floy, a confidence man who invaded the placid Longstreet home and organized the real estate boom on the marsh land they owned. A chase to Atlantic City was the climax of the hilarious musical, which featured songs such as "He Tried To Make A Dollar," "I Still Get Jealous," and "The Things We Did Last Summer."

A gorilla threatens Hubert (P. Cassidy), Fran (E. Millikan), and Mama and Papa Longstreet (C. Detmer, J. Brewer).

Thespians Display Potential In Two Fine Productions

A large cast with 23 sailors and a "nurse" was needed for "Mr. Roberts," fall play which broke all attendance records for Thespian dramas. With John Francisco cast in the role of Mr. Roberts, Mark Stamp-er as the tyrannical captain, and Steve Clawson as Mr. Pulver, this story of World War II in the South Pacific seemed appropriate for 1967 and the Viet Nam War.

A cast of 12 men and seven women appeared in "Skin of Our Teeth," an actual representation of the history of man, which also is one of the finest comedies ever written. The clothing presented a problem in this spring play, since it called for several unusual costumes for animals such as a dinosaur and a giant mammoth. The settings for the play by Thornton Wilder were especially difficult to create, since the scene changed eras frequently, necessitating several sets.

Debate Team Ends Successful Season

The CHS chapter of National Forensic League consisted of 75 members, the fifth largest league in the state. These "Talking Trojans" earned points toward membership by participating in speech and debate meets, acting as emcees at convocations and taking part in many civic and church programs. From October through February, they attended 12 practice meets across Indiana. In sweepstakes competition, they brought home the second place trophy from Lafayette. Greg Crider earned the Double Ruby, the highest NFL award.

Varsity and novice debaters competed in 14 meets and earned 178 wins and 103 losses.

School Improvement Is Student Council Goal

'Watermelon Feed' Begins Active Year

Wishing wells, a cupcake sale and a dance were important events during School Improvement week in October. Student Council sponsored the week in order to earn money for Hearts' Hop, Christmas decorations, and other projects.

The "Watermelon Feed" welcomed all CHS students back in September. A luncheon was served for teachers during semester break, and Spring Fling remained the big fun-time event at the end of school.

Presiding over the meetings were Mike Kirby, president; Greg Givens, vice-president; Debbie Hoover, secretary and Susan Staton, treasurer. Co-sponsors were Mrs. Mary Sinnock and Mr. Robert Dicken.

Each English Class Has Own Delegate

During passing periods, the halls of CHS appeared brightened by ingenious bulletin boards created by Co-Council members. The boards were decorated before the Christmas holidays and before the North Central Association evaluation.

Aiding Student Council in creating a romantic setting for Heart's Hop was another activity. Gathering suggestions from English rooms helped to air problems of the student body.

Officers were Greg Givens, president; Nancy Hagerman, vice-president; Cindy Dann, secretary; and Lee Haywood, treasurer.

School Betterment Is Goal Of Committees

The determination of Ed Higham illustrates the rivalry during Spring Fling.

Where there's a will there's a way for Sam Worthington and Kent Sharp.

Building the spirit of CHS students and boosting the Trojans on to victories were the goals of Morale Committee. Selecting the Trojan mascot Dennis Campbell, choosing sophomore cheerleaders, painting signs, sponsoring Spring Fling, and planning pep sessions were projects for all morale members.

The committee was advised by Mr. Michael Arford and Mr. Dwight Nelson. Susan Piros was chairman, assisted by Marsha Sales.

During the summer months, many students spent hours at school working on the School Improvement Committee. Voluntary work included repainting schedule boards, parking guides and the goal posts. Posters were made to welcome students back to school; and on the corridor bulletin boards there were different decorations stressing big events of the school year. Student Council sponsored School Improvement Committee during the summer.

Morale members are (FRONT ROW) P. Brooks, K. Morrow, C. Renner, C. Toney; (MIDDLE ROW) D. Nicholson, C. Shallenberg, M. Crider, M. Helms, S. Worthington,

I.U.'s John Pont Speaks At Convocation

John Pont meets CHS athletes at a luncheon prior to convocation.

This year's convocations ranged from pep sessions to holiday programs or the presentation of noted guest speakers. One of the first programs featured "500" Mile Racer Johnny Boyd who talked about safe driving, stressing courtesy, maturity, and respect for the automobile from all drivers.

In December, Charles Wells, editor of the political newspaper-magazine "Behind the Headlines," spoke on Russian youth. Another December speaker, I.U.'s football coach John Pont, received a standing ovation in tribute to taking his "Fighting Hoosiers" to the Rose Bowl. A ski lodge in the mountains provided the setting for "A Joyful Noise," the Christmas program featuring Madrigal, Swing Choir, and Chorale.

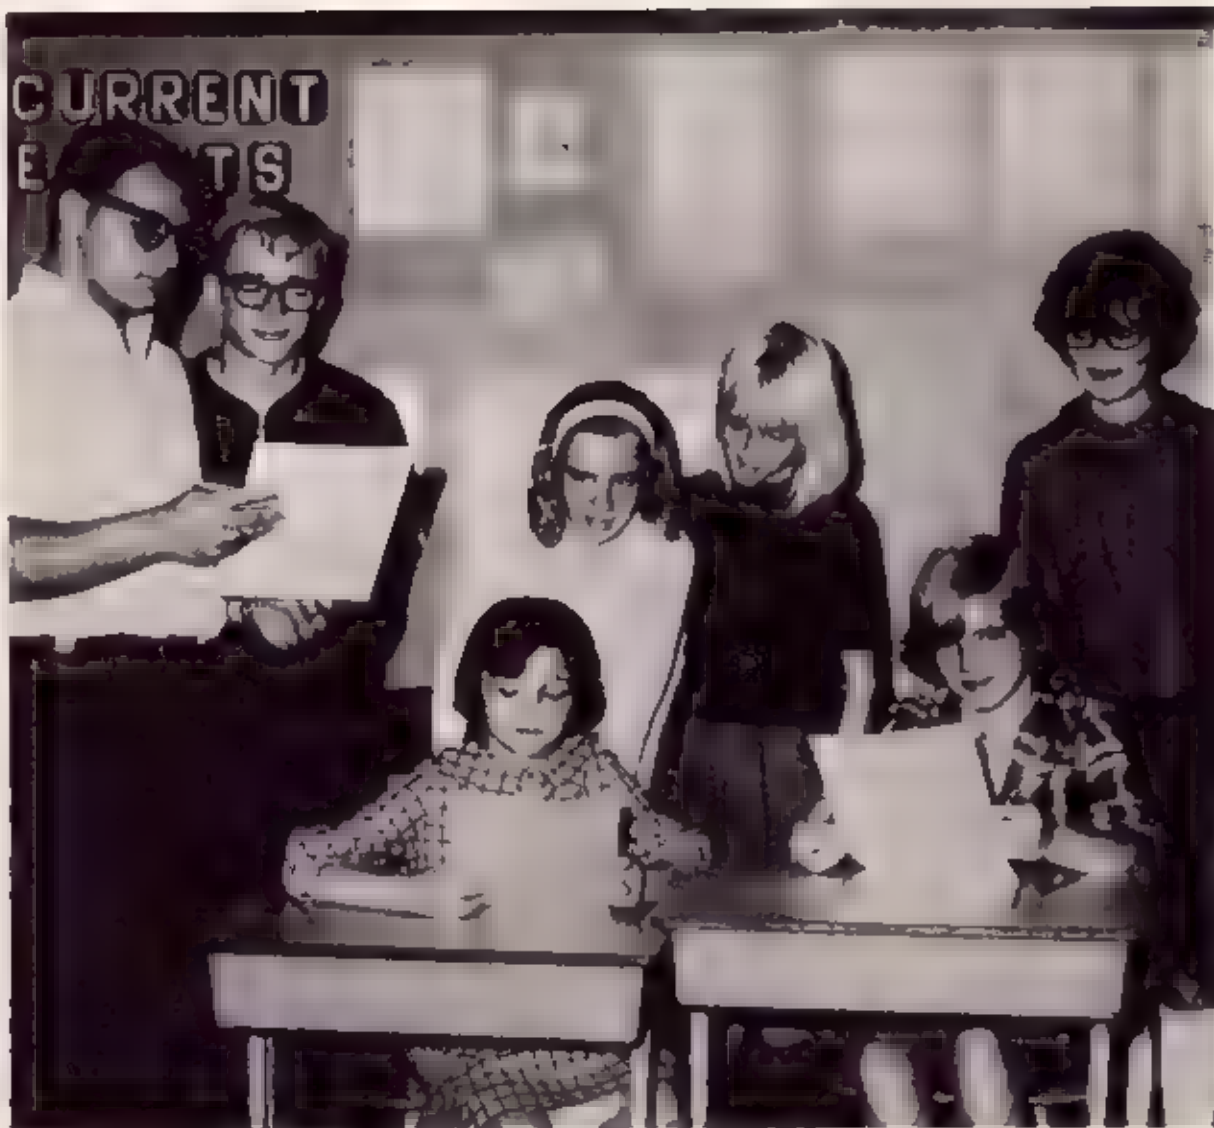

Other convocations were the annual Honor Day, and fall, winter, and spring sports programs.

Cadets' Goals Are Inspired By Teaching

The first conference night for Exploratory Teachers was sponsored by the Classroom Teachers Association last January. Guests of the evening were the 41 seniors who had been "Cadet Teachers" and their parents. On display were posters prepared by each cadet to represent some of their experiences while assisting grade school students. The guest speaker was Dr. Leslie Mauth, head of the Education Department at Ball State University in Muncie.

These "cadet teachers" spent the first two modules each day during the first semester in an elementary classroom. There, they assisted in teaching, prepared projects, and created colorful bulletin boards. Once a month a conference was held with the cadets and Miss Pearl Dunn, their supervisor. During the second semester, the former cadets were enrolled in the psychology class with Miss Muzetta Guymon.

Future Business Leaders Sell Concessions

Officers prepare cokes before FBLA dance. They are Nancy Fletcher, president; Linda McCutcheon, vice-president; Dee Ann Neal, secretary, and Judy Ward, treasurer.

Selling concessions at the football games last fall was the major fund raising project for the Future Business Leaders of America. In October, initiation services were given for all new members. Sponsoring a dance following the Noblesville game in November was another fall project to raise money for the club.

A Valentine's Day motif was used as the club entertained patients at the New Castle State Hospital. In April, the members attended a state convention at Ball State University for all FBLA clubs. Another highlight of April was the club's annual typing contest in which most typing students were entered.

A party near the close of the school year honored seniors and Miss Sarah Hall, retiring sponsor. Other sponsors were Mrs. Mildred Donovan and Mrs. Dorothy Golliher.

Students Take Office Jobs, Organize Club

Students in vocational business education were pleased to announce that a chapter of the National Office Education Association was established at CHS in December. Members attended school in the mornings where they took necessary subjects for graduation and classes to improve business skills. During afternoons, these students actually worked in offices under the supervision of company employers and sponsor Mr. Cecil Powell.

Fund raising projects during the year included the selling of fruitcakes and candy, addressing labels for Schools In Review and helping the March of Dimes. The 14 members held their club meetings eighth module on Thursdays.

Holding trophies which they were awarded for achievement at the Regional Conference are Jenny Estelle, Karen Fauchald, Carol Hahn and Jim Carlton.

Distributive Education Club won eight of the 39 possible citations at the Eastern Regional Conference and seven of these went on to the state contest. Early in the fall, Jane Bell was elected a state vice-president, and she was one of the 100 delegates to the state-wide Youth Power Conference in March.

Members of this club, who spent the afternoons working in local businesses, began selling candy in October to raise money for a trip to Chicago to study window displays. Two big events of the year were initiation of new members and induction of officers which was held in October and the Employee - Employer Banquet which was held in May. Officers were Bob Johnson, president, Jane Bell, vice-president; Deb Burk, secretary, Janet Smith, historian, and Milton Miller, reporter. Foreign Student Day Brings Many Guests

Tag Day was one of the most important events of the year for FORSCO as the club raised $461 to help pay the school expenses of the foreign students, Oili Kurki-Suonio and Shinji Watanabe. It also will help sponsor scholarships to summer programs for local students.

Piroshki and petit-fours were among the delicious foods sold at the International Food Bazaar just before Thanksgiving vacation. In April, foreign students from Indiana colleges and other high schools visited classes and talked with students about their native countries.

Other events included the selling of note paper and sponsoring two dances. Mary Lou Heilman was president; Ginny Morris, vice-president; Jane Bronnenberg, secretary; and Jim Brewer, treasurer. Helping with the year's activities was Miss Berniece McCord, FORSCO sponsor.

Student Aides Use Time To Assist Others

Betty Nicholson assists Mrs. Baker in Counseling Center.

Keeping occupied was no problem for the more than 25 student helpers who used independent study time to assist others in the library and in the various offices.

Under the direction of the new librarian Mrs. Ruth Creech, student library helpers assisted other students and faculty members in selecting reference materials, filing periodicals, and checking out books and magazines. They also arranged various displays in the showcase windows outside the library.

Other students worked in offices on the main floor of the building. Stationed in the Counseling Center and Attendance Office, they tabulated and then distributed the absentee lists and ran various types of errands for the staff members.

In the Health Center, a student helper was always on duty to assist the nurse, Mrs. Mildred Baily.

FHA Theme Focuses On Individuality

"You and Your Rainbow" was used as the theme this year for the Future Homemakers of America, as emphasis was placed on the individual in many of the club's activities. Mrs. Rodney Ford was a guest speaker who gave a talk on dual careers for women. Mr. Cecil Powell led a group discussion on jobs at one of the May meetings.

At the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in May, Susie Logan was recognized as outstanding FHA girl of the year. Officers this year were Jenny Estelle, president; Gail Torgimson, vice-president; Carol Connor, secretary; and Geraldine Copp, treasurer. The club sponsors were Miss Frances Eilar, Mrs. Mildred Garner, Mrs. Sara Carithers, and Miss Muzetta Guymon.

Sponsoring a chess and a checker tournament proved to be fun for members of Math Club. A dance was held after the Richmond game and a field trip was taken to Cincinnati. Montey Holloway served as president with Mr. Wayne Akey, sponsor.

Cookie sales again this year provided money which Bible Club used to purchase religious books for the library. A Christmas party, field trip and a picnic were other events of the year. The club was in charge of devotions at the March PTA meeting. Pins in the shape of a Bible were presented to members by their sponsor Mr. Hobart Risley.

Machinists, Science Club Plan Projects

Besides learning to use the machinery in the shop, members of Machinist Club attempted to put together an industrial brake and self clutch. Hours were spent working and repairing members' cars. Sponsor of the club, reactivated this year, was Mr. Murl Carnes.

Work on an aero-space chemistry project showed the many skills of Science Club members. Other events included sponsoring a dance and a cookie sale in December. Visiting the State Hospital and the Science Fair at Ball State proved interesting. Sponsors were Mr. Stanley Hall, Mr. Robert Furbee, Mr. William Wilt and Mr. Johannes DeNeef.

Band Creates Lively Shows At Halftime

Band members invaded the city in January selling tags which read "I am a CHS Band Booster." This project and a chili supper raised $735 for uniforms which must be purchased for next year's band.

With Jon Sutton as drum major, the band performed during halftime at all home football and basketball games; attended Band Camp at General Butler State Park in Kentucky in August for a week, and took part in Purdue's Band Day and Ball State's Homecoming Parade.

Repairing Of Victory Bell Is Challenge

Repairing of the broken Victory Bell presented a real challenge for all N-Men's Club members, but the bell was ready to ring again by Sectional time. Selling buttons before several games was a money making project. Building the spirit hoop before home games was another important responsibility of the club.

Other activities included assisting in officiating of Intramurals and church leagues. Members also helped direct parking in November before the speech meet.

Club officers were Harold Huffman, president; Elgan Carter, vice-president; Randy Watson, secretary; and Joe Lamberson, treasurer. The sponsors were Mr. Hans Sheridan and Mr. James Bergman.

Chants, Antics Amuse Crowds During Games

Members of Boys' Cheerblock, led by Greg Crider, rang the Trojan Victory Bell after every victory. As traditional at each home game was the team's crashing through a colorful paper hoop held by the senior Cheerblock members.

The humorous chants and yells often surprised and always entertained the crowd. Echoing Girls' Cheerblock in group spelling, the boys added volume. Other projects were assisting in officiating Intramurals and church league games.

Officers were Greg Crider, president; Harold Huffman, vice-president; Steve Taylor, treasurer; and Mark Stamper, sergeant-at-arms. Co-sponsors were Mr. James Bergman, Mr. Wayne Jones, and Mr. Don Giles.

Band and Block provide constant clamor at every game.

Cries of "Charge!" assure the team of many loyal fans, win or lose.

Songs And Skits Are Cheerblock Features

The strain of a close game is reflected on President Judy Nichols' face.

All Trojan fans vividly remember the basketball game last December in which the Trojans defeated the Indianapolis Tech Titans. However, the performance of the team was no greater than that of the 238-member Girls' Cheerblock as it transformed itself into an enormous Christmas tree decked with tinsel. They then proceeded to decorate the tree with silhouettes of each player and Mr. Tague while they sang "The Twelve Days of Christmas," using the names of each for the days.

This skit was only one of several created by members of the Block using popular songs, handclaps, and cardboard props. The Board, which met once a week to discuss activities with the sponsors, consisted of seniors Bobbie Harless and Cheri Huse, juniors Terri Bell and Rita Carter, and sophomores Debbie Garner and Margaret Stairs. Officers were Judy Nichols, president; Susan Staton, vice-president; and Connie Upchurch, secretary-treasurer. The sponsors for Cheerblock this year were Miss Gloria Castelluccio, Mrs. Judith Sorrell, and Mrs. Carol Gallo.

Honorees Are Recognized In Many Fields

State Recognition Is Received By Many

Excelling in athletics, governmental interests, and international affairs, many students were recognized in these areas throughout the summer and past year.

Representing their social studies classes, delegates attended Indiana University's Girls' and Boys' State last summer.

The DAR Good Citizen was chosen by the senior girls on the basis of leadership and patriotism.

Each month, two outstanding senior boys received the opportunity to listen to after-dinner speakers and meet community leaders as the guests of the Rotary Club.

Two delegates attended the Indiana High School Government Leadership Conference at Ben Davis High School in February which was sponsored by Senator Birch Bayh.

Thirteen seniors were selected as Optimist Outstanding Citizens on the basis of their achievements in the school and community.

Among the state competitors were the winner of the Knights of Pythias speech contest and three honorees of the art department.

Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are qualities found in members of National Honor Society. This year's chapter consisted of the 19 seniors inducted in 1967 and 28 juniors and seniors inducted at a formal dinner in May.

The club sponsored many projects throughout the year. At Christmas time, they purchased a tree for the school lobby and conducted the annual toy drive for the needy children of the community. They also compiled the Honor Roll, sold note paper, sent greetings to former CHS servicemen overseas, and sponsored the King Eskimo Dance. Miss Catherine Ratcliffe was the sponsor. Officers were elected for each semester, and Bill Wilhoite was first semester president. Serving as second semester president was Steve Gough.

"The literary happening of the year" was the slogan of this year's TROJAN TRIBUNE. CHS students were given the opportunity to submit creative writing, and under the supervision of Mr. Steve Dicken, the best selections were published in this magazine. Materials submitted included poetry, essays, short stories, and art work. The staff, composed of representatives of college English classes, reviewed the entries in order to present the best of CHS writing in book form. For the first time in many years, this year's edition featured art work by several entrants in addition to the student writing submitted. Serving as this year's co-editors were seniors Jeff States and Debbie Hoover.

Shaffer, States, Hoover, Conkin, Bowman, and Day are section editors.

Co-editors States and Hoover try to help Mr. Dicken make selections.

Phoenix Emphasizes Future Events In Bi-Weekly Issues

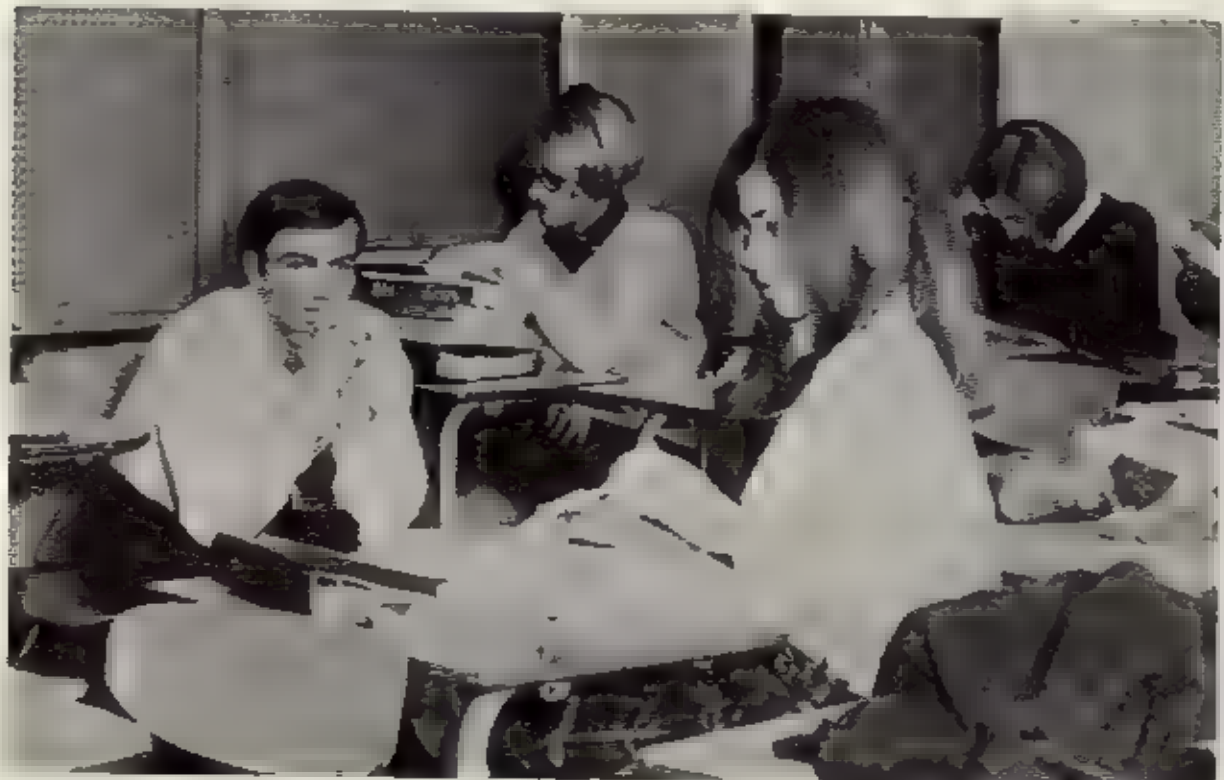

Staff decides, "We are the greatest!" as they review a past issue.

A solemn moment is used to formulate ideas for a future PHOENIX.

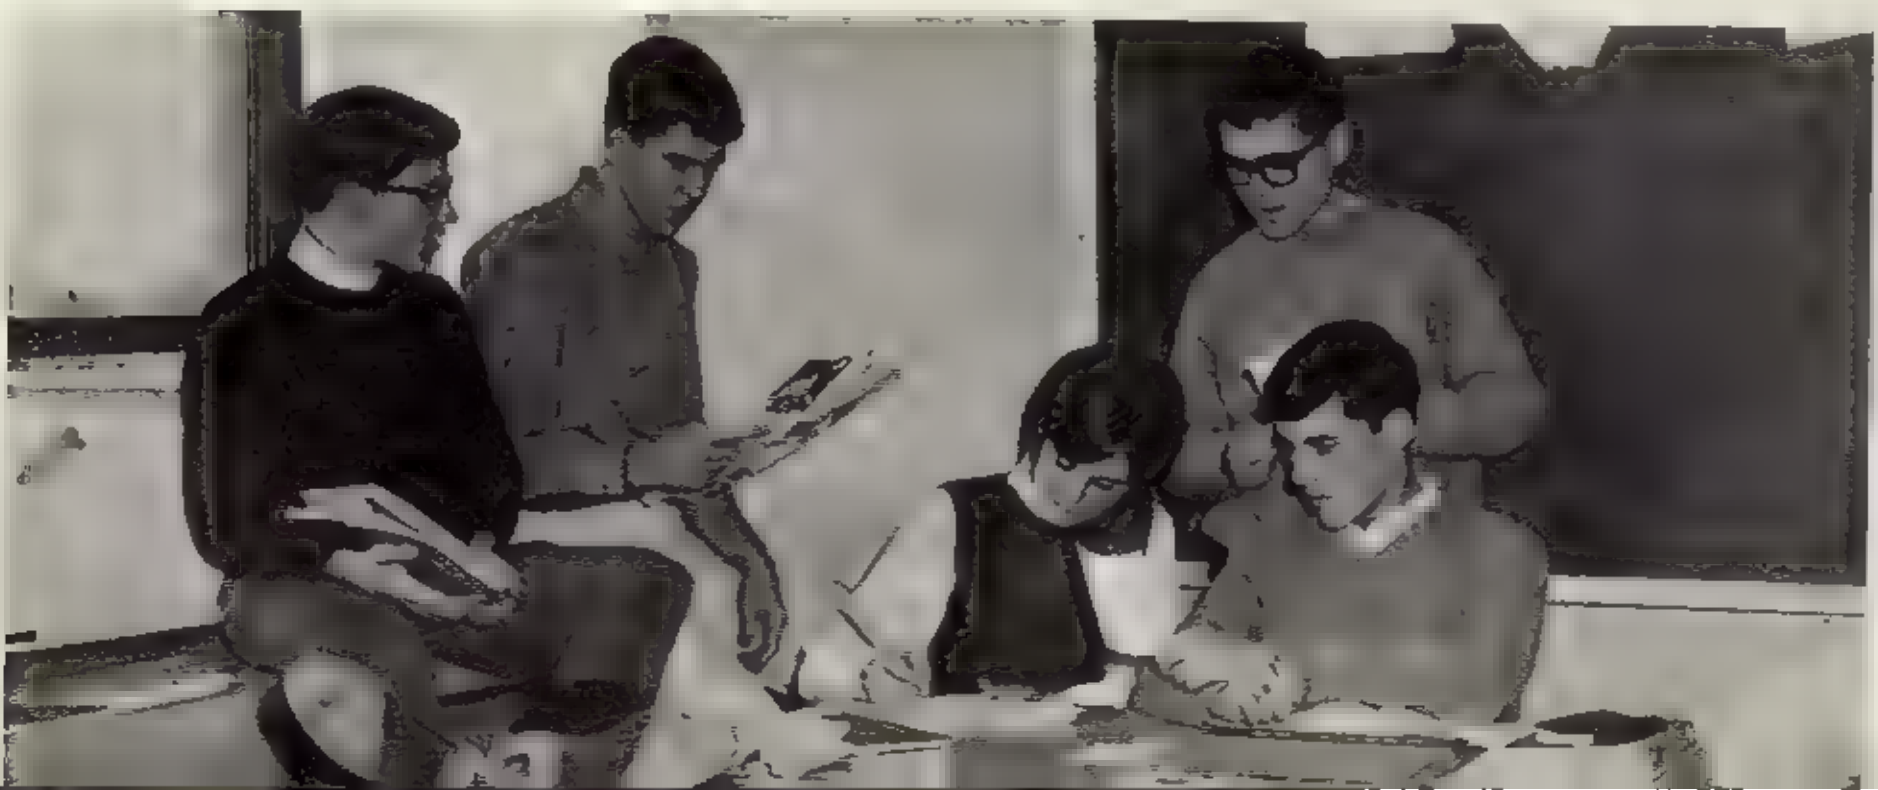

Informing the faculty and student body of all the CHS activities was the main responsibility of PHOENIX, the bi-weekly paper which was printed in the Print Shop. The major objective of this year's staff was to publish activities of the future instead of reporting on those of the past. They also tried to obtain more student names and opinion for their articles to increase reader interest.

This year's co-editors were Bill Shockley and Steve Clawson with Cindy Dann as business manager.

Other senior editors were Carolyn Charlesworth, features; Pat Cassidy, assistant features; Steve Gough, photographer; Mark Stamper, sports; Mike Kirby, assistant sports; Debbi Duncan, personalities; Jill Bettner, news; Connie Detmer, assistant news; and Margie Hurst, advertising. The 12 junior reporters on this year's staff will serve as editors on the staff next year and will supervise the new reporters. Miss Frances Halberstadt replaced Mr. Larry Horney as this year's PHOENIX sponsor.

'Rosey' Staff Creates First 9 x 12 Book

The 1968 ROSENNIAL staff learned that hard work and determination go hand in hand with success and honor in producing a fine year-book. Being teenagers themselves, they selected the theme, "The Soul of Youth," and molded it around the sincere ideals and beliefs typical of the modern day high school student.

Editor-In-Chief Esther Day, Copy Editor Judy Flynn, and Layout Editor Lynne Murray directed the staff in making many changes in the 1968 edition. The size was changed from the 8½ x 11 inch format of the past to the 9 x 12 size now used by most colleges and universities. The Rosey staff selected a textured paper for the first time and again developed an interesting three column layout with a variety of pictures.

Junior staff finds that ROSENNIAL is not all fun and games.

Tennis And Bowling Offer Relaxation For GAA Girls

Patty Erickson and Beth Erickson find that bowling requires accuracy and form.

Tennis was added this year to the list of sports enjoyed by the Girls' Athletic Association. The club continued with the traditional activities of volleyball, baseball, basketball, and bowling throughout the year.

Karen New was elected as president; Patty Erickson, vice-president; Terri Bell, secretary; and Nancy Tritch, treasurer. Miss Jean Stellingwerf was sponsor.

Special awards were presented at the annual spring picnic. One-year members were given pins, two-year members received letters, and three-year members were presented trophies. Attendance awards were also given. On the basis of skill, sportsmanship, and contributions to the club, an Honor Girl is chosen each year. This year's Honor Girl was President Karen New.

After a year's absence, intramural basketball once again was organized to develop sportsmanship as well as physical fitness and recreation. A record turnout of 168 boys formed 21 league teams. Mr. Paul Gallo found time to supervise the organization during the off season between track and football. Out of the 21 league teams, thirteen squads entered the tournament eliminations.

In the second round of tournament play the No-Name Harps captained by John Harp were defeated by the Fighting Irish captained by Mike Green, while Joe Lamberson's Beavers slid by George Roseberry's Rebels. Tom Haskett's Raiders edged Jerry Campbell's Supersonics and Gary Mathes' Aardvarks beat Jim Hunnicutt's Unpredictables.

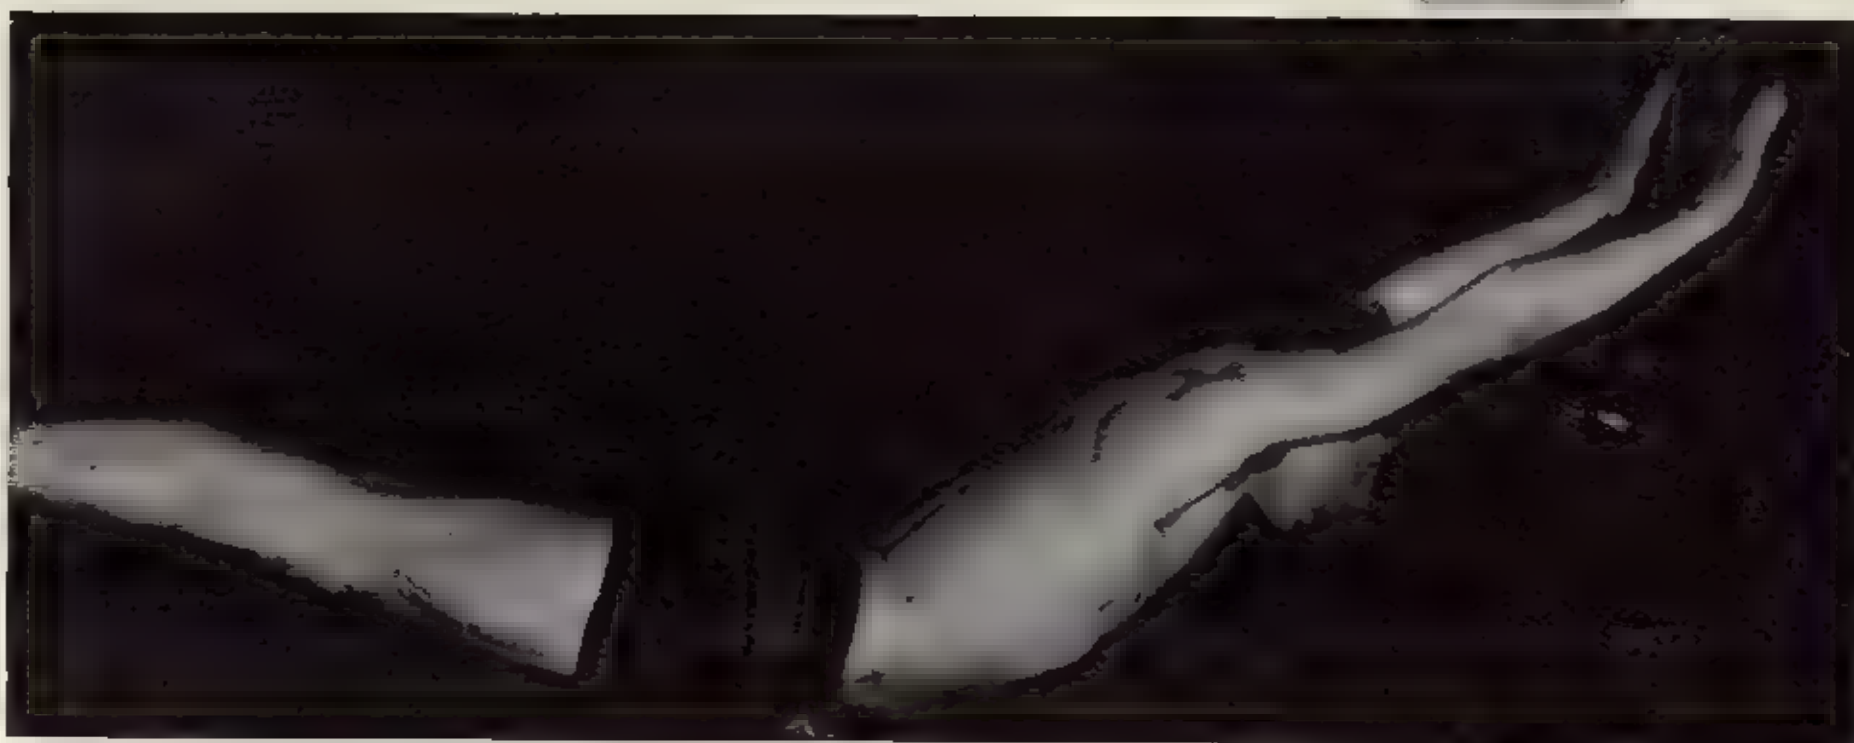

The upset over the Beavers and a final game win against the Raiders made the Irish champions.

Squad Marks Third Straight Winning Year

By posting five wins, four losses, and one tie, the varsity football team ended with a winning season for the third consecutive year. The Trojans, under the direction of Coach Wayne Jones, were faced with many highly rated teams, including the determined Giants from Marion. Although Marion was picked to win, New Castle's ambitious Trojans held the score to a 0-0 tie.

Lafayette provided another test for the Trojans, but a field goal by Steve Coers advanced New Castle to a 3-0 lead. Coers's field goal was the first decisive one in over ten years. David Pryor added a touchdown to the field goal in the fourth quarter as New Castle won the Conference game by a final score of 10-0.

New Castle Third In NCC 3-2-1 Conference Record;

The Trojans took third place in the NCC with a 3-2-1 record. Three seniors were named to the All-Conference squad. Those earning positions on the team were David Pryor, Harold Huffman, and Ed Higham. Receiving honorable mention was Randy Watson, also a senior. Huffman and Pryor also received honorable mention on the All-State team.

New Castle and Richmond combined teams to play against Jeffersonville and Lebanon in the first jamboree for the Trojans. New Castle made three touchdowns, but this was not enough to defeat the Jeffersonville-Lebanon team. This game was the only one for senior George Barber as he suffered a broken wrist during the next team practice.

The New Castle wrestlers took second place in the Sectional and ended tenth in the Regional. In the conference, the team ranked eighth. Jack Imel took first place in the Sectional in the 138 pound class and was second in the Regional. Imel lost only three meets during the year, all to Dennis Millikan of Noblesville. Co-captains this year were Imel and Larry Sutton.

The Trojan B-team, under the direction of Coach Jim Bergman, had a record of 4-7. Again this year, the squad captured first in the Muncie Central Invitational in which four teams competed. David Phillips had the best record with 12-0.

Trojans Finish With 13-7; Lose Six By 15 Points

The Trojan basketballers under the direction of Coach Cecil Tague have molded a 41 win and 11 loss record over the past two seasons.

Using senior center Doug Ferguson and senior guard-forward George Barber from last year's state finalists, Coach Tague put together another winning unit. Providing balance were senior forward Ed Higham, senior guard John Hall and junior Darrell York at the other guard.

The squad was a loser in six outings by a total of 15 points, with two of these defeats being avenged in the second encounter.

The Trojans defeated such highly regarded teams as Madison Heights, Tech, Muncie Southside, Highland, and the Anderson Indians.

Racketmen Post Great Season; Hall Brothers Win Sectional

Fred Hall demonstrates that "practice makes perfect" as he readies for a meet.

The '67 tennis squad ended the season with a thirteen win, seven loss record. Coach Dick Leitch's talented boys used their skills to beat opponents such as Muncie South and Elwood. With a 2-5 conference record, the Trojan squad ended in a tie for fourth place with two other teams. Returning last spring for Coach Leitch were seniors Dick Haven and John Fisher and juniors Joe Lamberson and Bill Wilhoite. These men performed well throughout the year and received much support from the remaining team members.

This fall for the first time, the Indiana High School Athletic Association held a state tennis tourney. In the Sectional, the Trojans placed second among eight participating teams. Senior John Hall and his brother Fred, a junior, won the Sectional doubles but lost in the Regional at Indianapolis.

Wilhoite, Lamberson, J. Hall, F. Hall, Harp, Conkin, Veach, Sutton, and Osborne were veteran performers for Coach Leitch this season and he expected another good year.

Cindermen Shatter Four School Records

As the tense crowd looks on, Gary Hedrick slips over the bar.

When the track season had finally drawn to a close, there was a new field event record established in the shot put, and three new marks had erased old ones in the running events. With Billy Ross, Brent Furbee and Mick Sears leading the way as veterans and Ernie Troxell being outstanding for the underclassmen, the squad ran up a four win and one loss slate in dual meets. The team also chalked up two wins in as many tries in triangular meets. Beating conference foes Anderson and Muncie Central in a triangular meet proved to be one of the highlights of the 1967 track campaign.

The squad finished the season competing in the Sectional meet at Richmond where they placed a close second behind the Red Devils. With a great deal of team spirit and hustle, Coach Wilbur Veach's boys ran their way to one of the best season records of any New Castle squad.

The baseball team's impressive starting battery composed of Mickey Thomason, pitching, and Harold Huffman, catching, was named to the NCC first team. Throughout the course of the season, this battery accumulated eight of fifteen decisions.

The honor of being selected as outstanding senior athlete on the squad went to Mickey Thomason. Dan Popplewell was the leading hitter followed by Mickey Thomason. Randy Watson led the team in slugging as he accounted for three home runs.

After finishing regular season play with a record of six wins and seven losses, they participated in the first Indiana High School Baseball Tournament. With good hitting and an exceptional pitching performance, the squad won. Lamberson, a starting pitcher during the course of the season, tossed a no-hit, no-run five inning game. The Trojans obtained runner-up honors when they were eliminated by Knightstown, the eventual Sectional champ who went as far as the State Semi-Finals.

Coach Rex Brooks had many fine individual efforts from several members of the squad. Although the team lost five ball games with the opposition being on top by one run, they continued to show spirit.

Trojan Harriers Capture First Sectional Crown

Old Marks Are Erased By Darrell York;

Squad Posts Excellent Record Of 7-2

Outstanding junior Darrell York finished ahead of the field throughout the season.

The Trojan harriers accomplished a first for the record books by capturing the Sectional championship. After a season record of seven wins and two losses, the team earned the Sectional crown, even though North Central Conference foe Richmond, was favored. Led by Darrell York, a junior, and Dennis Harmon, a senior, the squad slipped by all contending teams to win both the team and individual honors.

The squad's final appearance was in the local Regional where stiff competition forced the harriers to a ninth place finish. The squads taking the first three positions in the New Castle Regional were also the first three place holders in the State Final Tournament at Indianapolis.

Coach Wilbur Veach stated several times that he felt that this year's squad was the best group of young spirited runners that he had coached at New Castle.

Sophomores--Familiar Faces In Troy Land

The boys on the reserve bench cheer teammates on to victory

The definition of sophomore is sophos meaning wise and morus meaning foolish. This is true for the Class of 1970. While they are beginning to grow in knowledge and experience, the lighthearted actions of youth are still apparent.

Throughout the school year the sophomores' acceptance of challenge was noticeable in their presence around Chrysler High School's theatrical productions, organizations, and sports. By maintaining the sophomore spirit and growing in wisdom, the Class of 1970 prepared to meet the junior year.

Almost prayerfully, Denise Williams supports the Trojans' struggle for victory.

Junior Class Officers Are Elected After Narrow Race

The spirited class of 1969 has offered a great deal to the success and recognition of the school this past year. In addition to being active in sports and clubs, juniors also established good academic ratings, as 34 received certificates on Achievement Day last fall.

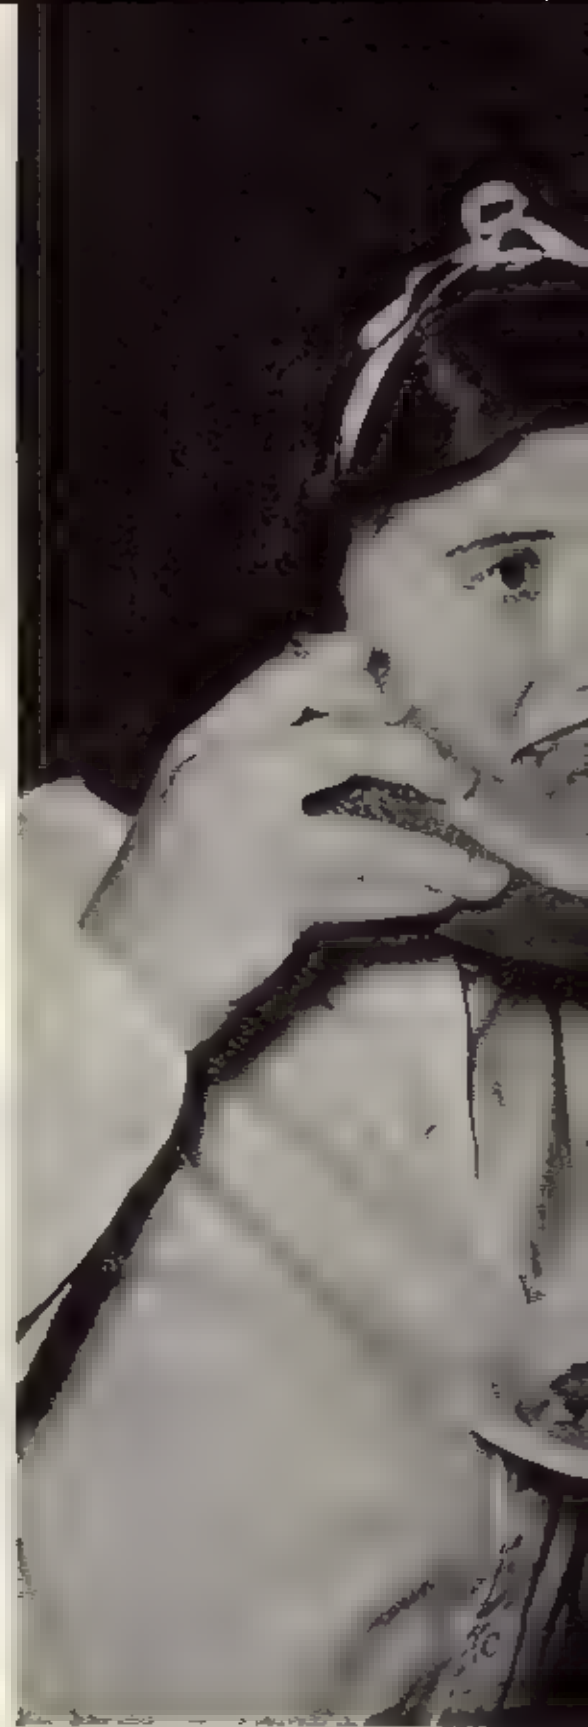

After a narrow race for class officers, George Clift was elected as president; John Younghaus as vice-president; Terri Bell as treasurer; and Jackie Fairchild as secretary. The officers accepted the flaming spirit bowl in an impressive ceremony at commencement on June 5.

Highlights of the year were the arrival of class rings and a memorable Prom on May 18. The ring style had been changed to display symbols of the CHS spirit and a Trojan head engraved on each ring. Junior committees worked all year in preparing a spectacular Prom.

Final Year Is Decisive For 383 Graduates

A decisive year confronted the 383 members of the Class of 1968 whose future seemed clouded by war. Nevertheless, they proceeded with plans for further training.

Early in the fall, nine seniors were awarded honor jackets for upholding a 3.8 or above grade average. Those receiving jackets were Steve Clawson, Greg Crider, Esther Day, Kathy Davis, Steve Gough, Montey Holloway, Bill Shockley, Bill Wilhoite, and Becky Wood. Fifteen others earned crests and certificates for maintaining a 3.4 or above grade average.

An early highlight for the graduating class was Senior Vespers, held in December. This memorable event marked the first appearance of the class as a whole.

Seniors Excel In Academics And Activities

Entertainment could be found anywhere by the fun-loving seniors. Senior Breakfast gave them a chance to razz fellow classmates and faculty members in an original skit. At Recognitions Day that afternoon, top seniors were recognized for outstanding achievements and the 1968 ROSEN-NIAL made its debut. These events and the Nightclub Party sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, relieved the solemnity of Baccalaureate and Commencement.

In October, seniors elected the officers who guided them in their activities. They were David Dickey, president; Greg Crider, vice-president; Margie Hurst, secretary; and Janis VanDam, treasurer. Senior sponsors this year were Mr. William Zeigler and Mrs. Sara Carithers.

Youth
is the heartbeat
of New Castle.
With enthusiasm it supports fresh ideas and creates fads. Increasing participation in business programs which acquaint students with the free enterprise system is evidence of youth's continuing involvement in the future of
New Castle's growing community.

Activity revolves around CHS's central image, the school seal.

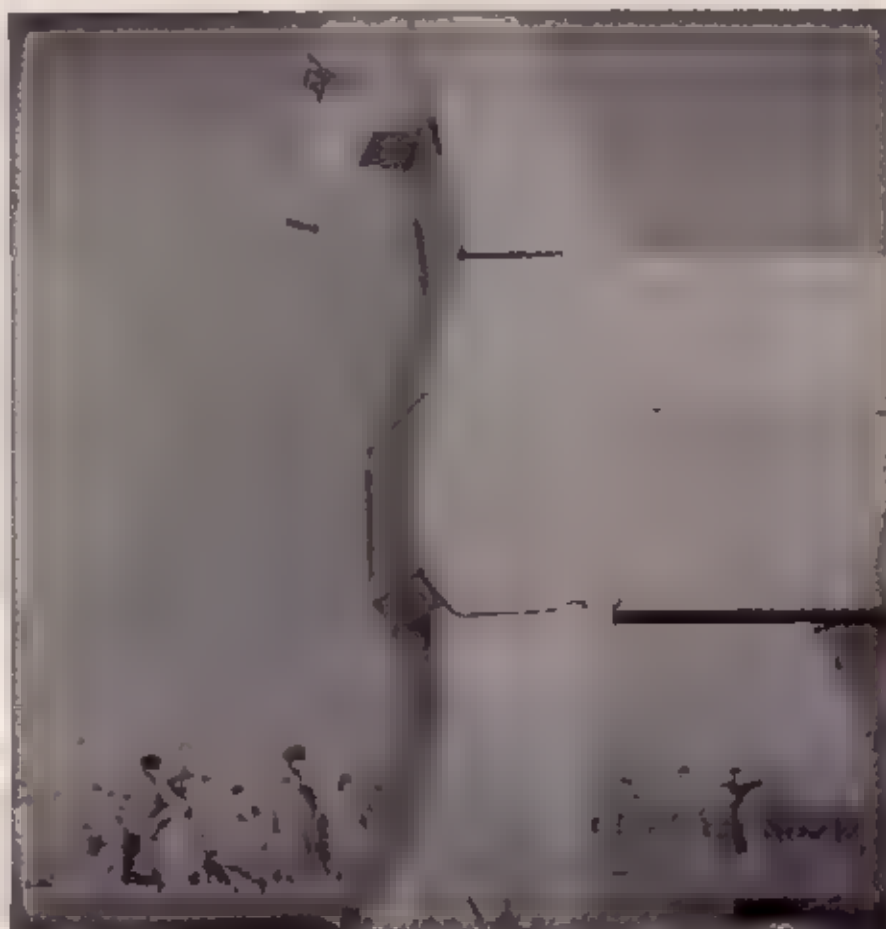

Achievement is recognized by the raising of the Victory Flag.

The Soul of Youth is not easily summed up;
its tremendous
capacity to understand,
to love, to hope
and to move forward
defy precise definition.
And yet, its optimistic vitality and awareness have been genuinely seen and felt in the atmosphere of CHS.
With a faith in itself
for a brightened tomorrow,
youth is determined to find a meaning
and direction in life that is uniquely its own.

The Trojan horse stands as a symbol of the spirit of athletics.

"You plant a Gingko tree where you want your soul to be"—a living memorial to Sean Davis.
